It is rumoured that the ultimatum will be prolonged for seven days.

The Empress has ordered that Tonquin be completely evacuated by the Chinese troops within a month.

The private Convention, for fixing the dates for the evacuation of Tonquin, was never accepted.

Preparations are being made for the defence of Woosung.

THE COUNTY FRANCHISE BILL.

LONDON, July 18.

In the House of Lords the Earl of Wemyss introduced a motion urging the Peers to pass the County Franchise Reform Bill without loss of time, the Government promising to introduce a bill for the redistribution of seats next October. The Lords negatived the motion by 182 votes against 122.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

PASSED CANAL.—Leroy and Glemis Castle, June 26; Achilles, June 30.

THE next FRENCH MAIL, per the M. M. Co.'s S. S. Natal, left Singapore on Thursday, the 17th instant, at 11 a.m., and may be expected here on or about Thursday, the 24th instant.

ORDER OF SERVICE AT ST. JOHN'S CATHEDRAL.

—FIFTH SUNDAY AFTER TRINITY.

Motins.—Venice, Turner; Paulus, Wesley and Ouseley; De Deum, Monk; Jubilee, Garrett; Athene, "Ye shall dwell in the Land"; Kyrie, Sangster; Hymn, 322.

Evensong.—Paulus, Travers; Magnificat & Nunc Dimittis, Trinomial; Hymn, 206, 220 and 21.

We are informed, by the Agent of the M. M. Co., that the Mail steamer Irenacida will be detained 24 hours in Shanghai later than her usual time of departure, so that she cannot be expected to arrive here before Wednesday morning.

THE British steamer Aegan arrived here from Manila to-day. When she left very little was known as to the wreck of the Spanish man-of-war Gravina. It was then reported that 40 lives had been lost, but this report has now been proved to be incorrect.

In our report of the Minimur v. Lennox case we yesterday made Captain G. C. Anderson say the injuries sustained by the Lennox could not have been caused by the Lennox advancing from forward to aft. What he did say was that he did not think the injury could have been caused by a vessel coming from starboard to port.

THE first number of O Echo de China, a weekly Portuguese paper for this Colony, was published to-day. It is a neat little publication, and it has our best wishes for its success. We read in it that the Portuguese amateurs in Hongkong intend to produce a few dramatic pieces in the City Hall Theatre here shortly.

Our Taiyuan correspondent, writing on the 5th instant, mentioned that H. B. M.'s gunboat Martin had collided with the American barge Wandering Minstrel in Takao Harbour, during a heavy blow which occurred there on the 29th ultimo. The accident was caused by the Martin dragging her anchor. The damage sustained was wholly confined to the deck work, and remained perfectly uninjured. After leaving Takao, the gunboat also experienced a stiff blow on her way to Foochow, and sustained some further slight injury. All the repairs necessary will be effected at Foochow.

SOME considerable time ago, the third class inspectors of the Police Force agitated for an increase of pay. The agitation has now, after many days, borne fruit. The authorities have considered the whole question of the salaries of the members of the European contingent from the third class inspectors downwards; and the Secretary of State has now sanctioned the following increases under these conditions. If the men will undertake to serve 15 years instead of 10 years as previously and forfeit their right to remit half their salary home at 4/2 exchange, they will be entitled to their pension at the end of 15 years, and to receive an increase of salary, in the case of first class inspectors, from $60 to $70; in the case of sergeants from $45 to $52; and in the case of constables from $20 to $25. The advantages of this professed generally the men, with the exception of an insignificant minority, are unable to perceive, and the offer is likely to be almost unanimously rejected.

MILITARY movements are at a standstill in Tonquin. The Salter arrived here direct from Haiphong at 2.30 this afternoon, 53 hours from time of leaving. She brings no news of any importance. So far no further assistance has been sent out in the direction of Langson. General Briere de Le Lale was to inspect the garrison at Haiphong a few days after the Salter left.

At present there is an ice famine in Haiphong. The recent typhoon destroyed the manufacture which was lately brought from Saigon and erected. The residents had scarcely fully realized the advantages of the factory when the luxury of having ice drinks was denied them. They will now have to depend on irregular supplies from Hongkong until next November, when it is expected that an ice factory will again be in working order. This will be in time for the cold weather.

TELEGRAMS.

THE COUNTY FRANCHISE BILL.

LONDON, July 18.

In the House of Lords the Earl of Wemyss introduced a motion urging the Peers to pass the County Franchise Reform Bill without loss of time, the Government promising to introduce a bill for the redistribution of seats next October. The Lords negatived the motion by 182 votes against 122.

It is quite certain the French will not be able to move any force from Tonquin to aid in any operations that may be necessary in taking and holding the 'material guarantee'. The presence of large Chinese armies on the frontier will necessitate all the troops now in Tonquin being retained, forthwith the defence of that country. Hence, unless the French wait for reinforcements before proceeding to take the 'material guarantee', they will have to operate with a small landing force only. Some place must be selected for occupation where the navy can do most of the work of taking possession, and of guarding the 'guarantees' against recapture by masses of the enemy.

The French will also endeavour to make a little money out of the customs dues, some port having a large trade is likely to be seized. We hear there has been a vast amount of sickness among the French troops in Tonquin, and that the strength of the forces there has been materially weakened by it.

Is the event of hostilities occurring between France and China, it is possible that this harbour might become a refuge for Chinese vessels. They would at any rate be safer here than at Canton or any other Chinese port. There would, in fact, be no refuge, along the whole extent of the Chinese coast, in which they would be secure from capture by the French. It is noteworthy, however, that there are no Chinese vessels in the harbour at the present time, and if war broke out suddenly there would be no chance of any reaching here. When the last mail left Shanghai, on July 12th, there were two or three vessels belonging to the Chinese Merchants' Company lying there. We presume that at Macao Chinese vessels would find protection, although as China has persistently refused to ratify the treaty calling that Colony the Portuguese might perhaps justly refuse to extend protection at Macao to Chinese vessels. The Chinese dredger, flying the German flag, cleared for a port near Chefoo yesterday, but she was still in harbour this evening. She could not of course be touched so long as she flies the German flag.

THE Chinese Recorder and Missionary Journal for May-June opens with an article on the Chinese language, by that persevering and painstaking sinologue Mr. E. H. Parker. The article is a lengthy and highly instructive one. The second place in the numbers is allotted to a paper 'On some Avoidable Hindrances to the Progress of the Gospel,' read by Mr. R. H. Graves before the Canton Missionary Conference. Mr. Graves gives much sound, practical and kindly advice to his brother missionaries. The hindrance he points out chiefly lie in the missionaries themselves. An article entitled 'Steps in the Growth of Early Tauism,' by Dr. Edkins, follows. The Rev. W. S. Ament contributes a paper on Chinese Temperance Legislation, in which he recounts the history of the efforts made at various times and by various persons to promote the temperate use of strong drink. His opinions as to drunkenness among the Chinese are at distinct variance to the popular notions on this subject. He says:—

It is apparent to any careful observer that the excessive use of liquor is a vice by no means confined to western lands. In China the practice is well-nigh universal and in many cases is limited only by the ability to purchase. The Chinese do not apparently look on drunkenness in the same light as Westerns do. Mr. Ament says in one passage:—

'The usual arguments employed by the temperance reformers in China have been, first and most important, the immense consumption of grain in distillation, their laziness and shiftlessness as a result of indulgence; the waste of money and poverty of the people, and contentions in families and communities. They do not seem to rise to the height of the moral argument that drunkenness is a sin, per se, without reference to its effects on the prosperity of the state.' And in another:—

'It is a remarkable fact that drunkenness as a crime is not mentioned in the Chinese penal code. So long as no disturbance is created, the Chinese tippler may degrade himself and neglect his family as long as he pleases.'

Some Proverbs and Common Sayings of the Chinese, by Rev. Arthur H. Smith; a short article on the 'Mongolian Language,' by Hoines; A Sketch of the Life and Services of the late Dr. Wells Williams, by Dr. Blodget; and some correspondence and missionary news complete the contents of this very interesting number of this excellent publication.

The following telegram was accidentally omitted from our issue of last night:—

London, July 17.—Cholera continues unabated in Marseilles and Toulon, but at present it is confined to these two places.

A LADY has discontinued a custom originated by her of having visitors write their names in a book in the hall in the event of her absence, as a supposed visitor came, in fact, to collect a bill of long standing, and wrote in the book, 'Is sorry Mrs. Smith's leave the amount as she promised.'

The deaths in the metropolis during 1883 upon which a coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from starvation numbered 44, being distributed as follows:—Central Division of Middlesex, 14; Eastern Division of Middlesex, 23; Greenwich Division of the County of Kent, 1; Eastern Division of the County of Surrey, 1; City of London and borough of Southwark, 1.

For some weeks past the troops quartered at Aldershot have been practising a new attack formation, which appears likely to be adopted instead of the absurd system up to now practised. The new method of attack, advocated in a pamphlet some ten years ago by Colonel A. Macdonald, is in a service contemporary, urged its adoption by the Edinburgh Rifle Volunteers, very simple, and was worked out by the present sergeant-major of the School of Instruction, Wellington Barracks, and Captain Arnott, 2nd Middlesex Rifle Volunteer Corps, who in a service contemporary, urged its adoption by the Edinburgh Rifle Volunteers, very simple, and was worked out by the present THE CHINA MAIL.

[No. 6548.—JULY 19, 1884.

JOHN BULL AND HIS ISLAND.

XXIII.

To become a lawyer, doctor, or officer, a schoolmaster, it is quite unnecessary: you open a school for boys or girls, just as you would open a grocery shop. I know a tailor who, having failed in business, has not up a school in his neighbourhood; he is getting on finely. In a school, at every step, we see a dozen or a dozen plates with the inscription: Established for young gentlemen or Established for young ladies.

Education is encouraged by all authorities. The establishments in question are not subject to inspection; but the pupils who are sent to them are generally well fed and allowed time for play; the rest the parents do not trouble themselves much about.

The other day I received two prospectuses, from which I will give you a few extracts. I keep the style intact; it would be profanation to touch such chez-l'heure:

Terms as low as possible, to keep schools select and severe through teaching.

They are examined every July by a committee from the College of Professors, thus confirming the advantages of a Public with a Private School.

Meals if wished. Lunch and dinner, 9d. Tea, 1d.

Terms include English only, French, music, and, extra, drawing, eighteen months to two years is preferred for their admission.

The religion of parents is never spoken against, but the Bible is taught.

Quarantine days of revision, hoping parents will then bear less time, as it is understood on account of the examinations to enter at once. Thorough teaching. No examining allowed.

This second prospectus was accompanied by a list of rules to be observed by the pupils. This list seems to be an exercise upon the different tenses of verbs. You shall see for yourself.

First comes the future:

1. When you hear the bell at six o'clock, you will get up immediately.

The next is in the conditional:

5. If you should tell at table, you would not get any pudding. (sic).

Then comes a subjunctive:

14. It is required that you should never be seen without a scraf in class or at table.

To complete there is the imperative:

20. You must not eat any cold, no, to Mrs. H. Mrs. H. is the worthy wife of the head of the school.

A friend of mine, a schoolmistress, had a plate put upon her head, with the inscription: Establishment for young ladies. Her landlord, a builder, promptly appeared, furious. "Take away that plate immediately," he said to his tenant: "I let you my house as a private dwelling: you are destroying all the privacy of the neighbourhood, and my house property will go down."

"But you have a plate upon your own door," remarked the lady.

"I know that," replied the builder; "but my business is respectable, at any rate."

Among the shopkeeping classes, the word schoolmaster raises a scornful smile.

The words teacher, tutor, governess, are for the synonymous with pervert, briket, down-fall. England owes his to his indifference towards education, and to Charles Dickens, who, in his writings, has succeeded to lower the dignity of the schoolmaster. His intention was to make these thoughts of ignorant men who left schools, ill-treated the children, caused them immorality, and so saved appearances for the parents.
